

Alegra "Ally" Lambert

March 1, 2008 - April 1, 2024

Shih Tzu March 2008 - April 2024

Ally started out with a rough start. When we got her at 8 weeks old we immediately fell in love with her sweet disposition which was different from her feisty older sister Juliet. Within 3 days of getting her, we took her to the vet for a full check up. We found she had a hole in her heart and within 5-7 months her body would grow too big for her defective heart to handle. The only way to fix it was to wait until she was at least 5 months old and have open heart surgery to repair the hole. This took some work to find a specialist who would do the surgery and had experience on dogs as small as Ally. We got her the surgery although it was beyond our means at the time. That little girl was just special. After her surgery it was as if she knew she got a new lease on life. There was never a happier dog. We have never seen her snap or growl at another dog or human. She was just happy and always up for anything. Especially a belly rub. She was so comfortable she could climb upon our laps, and in our arms then roll over for a belly rub. We had to be prepared because she always had faith that we were there to catch her as she gave us her tummy. She took road trips to Florida and visited her Grandma Sondra and Lexie. She went to the beach but was not a huge fan of sand. She used to swim in our pool when she was younger. She and her older sister Julie could often be found napping in the same bed. Her human sister grew up with Ally and is going away to college soon. Ally eventually got dementia after living an incredibly healthy life. Her life long vet, Dr Robinson always took great care of her and Ally enjoyed seeing her. Ally was a beautiful soul and we were better for having known her. I was lucky to be her fur mom. I'll see her again soon on the Rainbow Bridge.

Cemetery Details

Pet Memories Cremation Services

Tribute Wall

“ 3 files added to the album Ally's Memories Album ”

Pet Memories Cremation Service - April 22, 2024 at 10:17 AM