Coco Puff -

She came into my life in 2014 and left it in 2024. I never knew exactly how old she was. With the body of a Sherman tank, she leapt like a gazelle, ran like the wind and rolled like a Ninja. She had a heart of gold and loyalty that knew no bounds. She ran to save the life of a tiny Yorkshire Terrier who was her best friend. She wanted to be by my side at all times when we were indoors and to be wild and free when she was outdoors. She wanted to splash in every puddle, get into any water up to her chest but to never swim. She loved to run away but would she have missed me if I never found her? Or would she have been just as happy with the next person who gave her a home? I'm glad I found her on that fateful day, skinny and torn up. Glad I could lure her home with the dog biscuits a kind stranger had bought for her, and glad that she cuddled up to me as soon as I sat on the floor beside her. She was funny girl, unlike any other. My life was blessed by her and will never be the same without her. Coco Puff, the mighty and the sweet. I'll miss you forever.
