REMEMBERING Shiloh

When we got Shiloh 16 years ago we didn't expect her to be such an important part of our daily life. Shiloh “the cutest thing in this town” is what her doggy mom called her. I remember when I was little I was crying in my room and Shiloh walked in and sat on my lap and started licking me. She was always there to comfort us. You could never leave any food around her, once I left chocolate on the table then I went to my bed not thinking much about it and a couple of minutes later she was walking into the room with chocolate all over her face and her tail wagging. When my mom was pregnant with me she used to lay her head on her stomach. The first time I was brought home from the hospital she was standing on her back legs trying to see me in the crib. Everytime I would cry she would go find my mom. Shiloh, which means a gift from above, was the perfect name for a loving and smart dog. She was truly a gift from god. In her early years she amused us with her dancing. She was also known as mommy’s shadow because she would follow her around the house. Our guardian angel Shiloh.
